'ELECTRONIC AMBIENT REMIXES THREE' is the second in a series of CDs based upon Chris Carter's analogue sound experiments at the studios of Throbbing Gristle & Industrial Records in London in the 1970's.

Chris Carter (one of the founding fathers of the Industrial movement and member of Throbbing Gristle) has taken a dozen of his original TG rhythms and transmuted them into three dimensional polyrhythmic loops, weird gothic textures and spooky ethereal ambiances.

Tap your fingers and toes to the shifting, pulsating beats of 'Discipline', sway to the eccentric undulations of 'Heathen Earth' and be entranced by the unnerving hypnotic motion of 'Hamburger Lady'.

Take a break from the mundane and stale world of ëpop and rock and rollí and immerse yourselves in the otherworldly electronic ambient topography of the 21st century that is EAR THREE.

Depending on the mood of the listener EAR THREE has been mixed to be enjoyed at both unusually loud or very soft playback levels.
